CHAIR EHAB

The Ehab family consists of a chair, a high-back chair, an armchair and an armchair with a high back. The armrests provide good support when standing up. The wide seat, rounded at the front, makes for comfortable sitting. The backrests ergonomically follow the person's back. The versions with the higher backrest make sitting still a little safer and more comfortable thanks to their stabilising effect. So you can sit more upright at the table and thus more comfortably, whether you are eating in the dining room or socialising with other fellow residents. The chair can also be equipped with castors on the front legs so that the seated person can easily be pushed to the table from behind.
